SAT Evidence-Based Reading and Writing (EBRW)

Reading Section:

Passage:

The following passage is adapted from a speech by environmentalist Rachel Carson, discussing the impact of human activity on the natural world.

"The history of life on Earth has been a history of interaction between living things and their surroundings. To a large extent, the physical form and the habits of the Earth's vegetation and its animal life have been molded by the environment. Considering the whole span of earthly time, the opposite effect, in which life actually modifies its surroundings, has been relatively slight. Only in the present century has one species—man—acquired significant power to alter the nature of his world."

1. What is the main idea of the passage?
 - a) The environment has always shaped life on Earth.
 - b) Humans have recently gained the ability to significantly change the environment.
 - c) Animals and plants have no impact on their surroundings.
 - d) The Earth's vegetation has remained unchanged over time.
2. The author uses the phrase "the whole span of earthly time" (line 4) to emphasize:
 - a) The rapid pace of environmental change.
 - b) The long history of life on Earth.
 - c) The insignificance of human impact.
 - d) The importance of animal life.
